How to Communicate with a Modern-day Knight

You can write to your modern-day knight to let him (or her) know that you have done research in his field of work. In speaking with honorable men and women, one must speak with dignified respect and formality. Here is how to address a letter to your modern-day knight. In your letter, don't forget to tell him or her that our society is safer because of what they do. Then ask for the photograph of him or her to complete your project. Don't forget to thank them for any and all information that they send. Have fun corresponding with your modern-day knight!

Example

Your Knight's Profession: District Attorney
Your Knight's Name: John Smith

Your Name, Student
Your School's Name
Your School's Address
City, State, Zip
Date

Mr. John Smith, Esq.
The Main Street County Courthouse
District Attorney's Office
1234 Main Street
Your Town, CT 06123

Dear Mr. Smith:

I have been studying chivalry and knighthood in my after school enrichment program. After doing research in the area of prosecuting attorney, I find that you fit into the category of a modern-day knight.

Complete the letter above. With a great beginning to your letter, you can ask for that picture, interview, or be granted a visit to his or her office.
